WHO ARE THE ZOROASTRIANS?

Zoroastrianism is the oldest of the mono-theistic world religions. It's origins are lost in antiquity, but scholars believe the Prophet Zoroaster preached sometime during the early Bronze age, over 4,000 years ago, in the region of the Asian Steppes. It is a religion based on moral righteousness - Good Thoughts, Good Words and Good Deeds. For many millenia, Zoroastrianism flourished; it was the court religion of three Great Persian Empires. It has had a remarkable influence on other great world faiths - on Buddhism to the East, and later Judaism, Christianity and Islam to the West. Through the centuries, Zoroastrians have suffered many vicissitudes and travelled across many lands. Today there are about 120,000 in the world, most of them near Bombay, India, with smaller pockets scattered across the globe.

Most American Zoroastrians have come to this country within the past 30 years. They brought with them more than their skills and talents, their willingness to work and determination to succeed. They also brought their faith, their culture and customs, their art and music, their language and literature - the legacy of a centuries-old tradition to be nurtured and blended happily into the American milieu.

THREAT OF EXTINCTION

The Zoroastrians of the world, and in particular the U.S. and Canada, face a very real and imminent threat - that of extinction by assimilation into the mainstream of America, with a complete loss of an age-old heritage. With less than 4,000 scattered across the U.S. and Canada (200 in Chicago), the Zoroastrian can easily be wiped out, in the span of one or two generations, from the face of this continent.

EFFORTS TO SURVIVE

But the Zoroastrians are not ready to be delegated to the history books just yet. For some years now, concerned Zoroastrians have sought ways and means to stem the tide. One such effort, by the Chicago community is the creation of a religious, cultural and educational center, to perpetuate Zoroastrian culture and traditions. In time, it is hoped that this center would serve, in collaboration with a local university, as a research center for Zoroastrian studies. Early this year the Chicago Zoroastrians purchased a 2-acre property in Hinsdale; efforts to raise funds for the construction of the Center are underway.

The Zoroastrians now solicit your help and support - it is hoped that this effort will be one small step towards keeping this ancient tradition alive in America.

Dear Mr. Rivetna:

It is heartening to know that the Zoroastrian community of Chicago has made substantial progress toward the creation of a Zoroastrian Religious, Cultural, Educational and Research Center in your city. As attested to by the achievements of Zoroastrians everywhere in the world (notably in India, where they have exerted an influence way out of proportion to their small numbers), I feel confident that the American Zoroastrian can, and will, contribute significantly toward the cultural and economic greatness of this country.

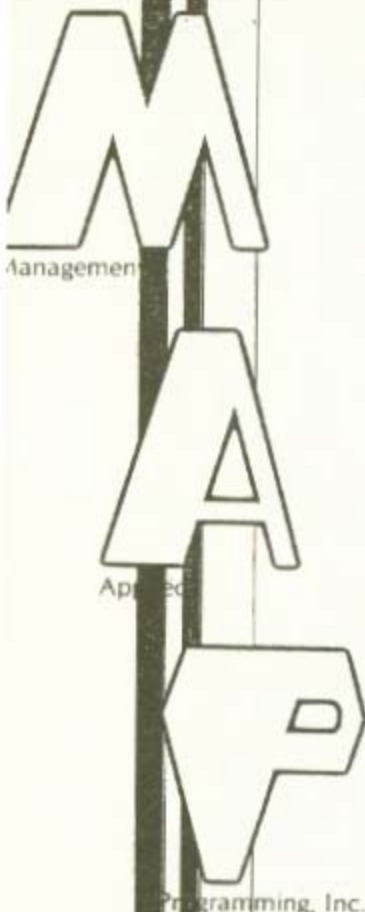

I applaud your efforts, and wish you continued success in this ambitious venture.

Very truly yours,

ROBERT STUART
Chairman of the Board

February 27, 1981

In our nation which is built upon a faith in God with a strong observance of religious freedom, we tend to exercise both our emphasis on faith in the Divinity and our freedom of worship in relationship to those religions most common among Americans, that is Christianity and Judaism in their various forms. However, our country is fortunate to have among its citizens devout worshipers of the Divinity who come from other cultures and worship Him through the practice of other religions. They too are Americans and their religious devotion is essential to the strength of our country.

One group least known to most Americans but important to us in many ways is the community of Zoroastrians. It is possible that the Zoroastrian proclamation of a single God and a good God not only predates Christianity but may even predate Judaism. It is in amazing harmony with both of those as well as with other more modern religions and religions more widely practiced in America.

As a committed Christian American I wish to express my strong appreciation for these fine Americans of Zoroastrian faith and to urge you to assist them in their efforts to honor and follow God in their way.

Sincerely,

Robert Stuart

RS:cg

P.S. The Zoroastrian community is small in numbers (100,000 in the world) and slowly declining. If we don't do something about it soon, it may well become extinct. This is an important effort to preserve the traditions.

MESSAGE

I pray to Ahura Mazda today, tomorrow and always that ZAC and the Zoroastrian Community should grow truthfully and fruitfully in a Vohu Mano way in all the nook and corner of the world.

Thanks to the people of Chicago for their donations.

Ahura Mazda Bless Us All!

Dear Mr. Rivetna,

Your letter of June 10, addressed to Mr. Mino Koorshed, our Past-President, arrived some days ago.

As you must have seen, I have already given publicity in the ZSO Newsletter to the two big functions you are arranging in August. In my next Newsletter, I shall ask if any of our members are interested in attending these functions in a group. If so, we could work out some arrangement to transport them to Chicago by bus.

Meanwhile, I am enclosing the ZSO's cheque for $50.00 U.S. towards a half-page advertisement in your Souvenir programme. The advertisement/message should read as follows:

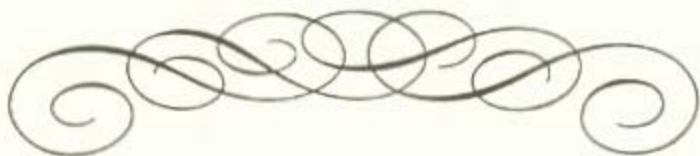

"WITH BEST WISHES AND THE COMPLIMENTS OF THE ZOROASTRIAN SOCIETY OF ONTARIO."

I should appreciate receiving a line from you informing me that you have received this cheque.

Yours sincerely,

To Charitable Institutions

A gift of life insurance to a charitable organization is a simple and sure way to establish a lasting memorial. All of us share a desire to give generously, and to do more than we are presently doing. The program of charitable giving proposed here provides the donor with an opportunity to fund a substantial "testamentary" gift by naming a charitable organization as beneficiary of a newly purchased life insurance policy.

EVERY SUCCESS IN THEIR PRODUCTION OF THE FILM

"In search of Zarathustra"

with

ZUBIN MEHTA

Zoroastrians around the world are very excited to hear of the project to produce a docu-drama entitled "In search of Zarathustra" with Zubin Mehta as host and narrator. The film will be work of multi-award winner, producer/ director Cyrus Bharucha who will bring to the film his years of experience at the BBC and PBS. The mission is to capture on film a permanent testimony to this great tradition in order to prevent a final slide of Zoroastrianism into oblivion. The film will explore through the eyes of Zubin Mehta, the roots, history, philosophy and social & political significance of the Prophet and of the religion, both in past and present.

May Ahura Mazda grant you good judgement and wisdom and guide you through this undertaking.

Mr. Rohinton Rivetna, President
Zoroastrian Association of Metropolitan Chicago
626 West 56th Street
Hinsdale, Illinois 60521
U.S.A.

Dear Rohinton:

We, at Zoroastrian Studies (ZS) are delighted to know that your Association has decided to raise funds in order to build a community centre.

With the migration of Zoroastrians to North America, a new chapter in the history of our religion and people has begun. We hope that through proper wisdom and foresight, the right seeds of our religion and culture will be sown, in the interest of future generations of North American Zoroastrians.

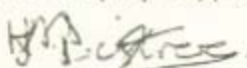

May your members' efforts bring to fruition a vision, which when realized will kindle a series of beacons, in order that every Zoroastrian -- young and old -- may know "from whither have we come, and whither are we going?"

It is also our hope that historians of the future will judge the contribution of your Association as being significant towards the building of a strong foundation to nurture and propagate the message of Zoroastrianism, into the 21st century.

May every Zoroastrian, through knowledge and awareness recognize the magnitude of this task, and rise to it by asking, "how can I assist in bringing about a Zoroastrian renaissance in the new world?"

A well-run dynamic community centre, we are sure, will go a long way in realising this dream, and hence we wish you all endless light (Av. anaghra raocha) in your endeavours.

Ushta tē (May happiness be to you all).

MESSAGE

Your heritage is precious. Heritage is the legacy of a people bequeathed from the past to the present and handed down by the living to those as yet unborn. In order to preserve this heritage, sacrifices must be made, and the Zoroastrians should contribute to causes which further the dream of preserving their heritage. There are many noble institutions such as the International Red Cross, Amnesty International and others which deserve the aid and support of everyone; but Zoroastrians are a small group and they should, indeed they must, concentrate on their own community such that the noble religion of Zoroaster and the age-old civilization and culture of ancient Iran which contributed much to the good of mankind, remain alive in the hearts and minds of all Zoroastrians.

I have always said, and I repeat again, that the first step in building for the future is the establishment of a permanent academic position for the teaching and the concomitant research on the Zoroastrian religion to provide enlightened leadership among priests and laymen for the entire Zoroastrian community. One must concentrate on the religion rather than on ancient history or philology, and the Zoroastrian religion must be presented to the world and taught as a living religion. One must look to the future and not alone to the past. From the establishment of a permanent academic center for the religion many other benefits will flow; to provide guidance and aid for zoroastrian children and laymen and thus contribute to the preservation of a precious heritage.

Sincerely yours,

Dr. Richard N. Frye
